21 I. INTRODUCTION

22 Pursuant to LCR 7(d)(1) and LCR 10(g), Plaintiff Amazon.com, Inc. (“Amazon”) and 23 Defendants Cash Network, LLC, Rasheed Ali, and Peter Bradford (collectively “Cash Network
24 Defendants”), move the Court to extend the deadlines set in the Court’s Order Setting Trial
25 Date and Related Dates (“Scheduling Order”) (Dkt. #64). Shortly after the Scheduling Order
26 was entered, on March 6, 2020 the Cash Network Defendants filed a Motion to Dismiss

1 Amazon's First Amended Complaint for Lack of Personal Jurisdiction and Failure to State a 2 Claim ("Motion to Dismiss") (Dkt. #70). This Court recently denied the Motion to Dismiss on 3 October 20, 2020 (Dkt. #98). While the Motion to Dismiss was pending, the parties paused
 4 discovery proceedings pending the outcome of the dispositive issue of jurisdiction. The parties
 5 now request an extension to the Scheduling Order to begin discovery and prepare the case for 6 trial. The parties previously sought an extension of the Court's first scheduling order ("First 7 Scheduling Order"), (Dkt. #40), which the Court granted (Dkt. #64) after Amazon amended its 8 Complaint adding seven new defendants to the case.

9 II. BACKGROUND

10 Amazon filed its Complaint on April 10, 2019 against defendants who have since been 11 dismissed from this lawsuit (Dkt. #1).

12 On October 8, 2019, based on the discovery Amazon conducted to date, Amazon moved 13 for leave to file its First Amended Complaint ("FAC") (Dkt. #45). The Court granted 14 Amazon's motion on October 25, 2019 (Dkt. #51), and Amazon promptly filed the FAC on 15 October 31, 2019 (Dkt. #52). Among other things, the FAC added seven new defendants, 16 including the Cash Network Defendants.¹ As a result, on February 5, 2020, the parties moved 17 for the first time to extend the deadlines set in the Court's First Scheduling Order (Dkt. #40).
 18 On February 7, 2020, the Court issued the controlling Scheduling Order (Dkt. #64).

19 On March 6, 2020, the Cash Network Defendants filed the Motion to Dismiss. While 20 waiting for a decision on the dispositive issue of jurisdiction raised in the Motion to Dismiss, 21 the parties conserved resources by postponing merits discovery.² On October 20, 2020, this 22 Court denied the Motion to Dismiss (Dkt. #98). Subsequently, on October 29, 2020 Amazon
 23 served the Cash Network Defendants with discovery. The parties are now moving forward

24 ¹ The Cash Network Defendants are the only remaining defendants in the case are. The other defendants have 25 either had a default judgment entered against them or have been voluntarily dismissed.

26 ² During this time, Amazon moved for default judgments against defendants that had not yet appeared in the 27 lawsuit, entered into a settlement agreement and voluntarily dismissed its claims against another defendant, and continued to pursue discovery issued to third-parties.

1 with discovery, with less than one month remaining until the current discovery deadline
 2 expires. The parties, therefore, wish to adjust the case schedule in order to proceed with the 3 litigation.

4 III. STIPULATED REQUEST

5 Good cause exists to extend the Scheduling Order. This is the second time the parties
 6 have requested an extension of the Scheduling Order. After the Court entered the First 7 Scheduling Order (Dkt. #40), seven new defendants were added to the litigation, necessitating 8 the need for additional time for the parties to pursue their claims.

9 After the Court entered the current Scheduling Order (Dkt. #64), the parties paused 10 merits discovery pending a decision on the Cash Network Defendants' Motion to Dismiss.
 11 Now that the Motion to Dismiss has been denied and the parties are moving forward with 12 discovery, the Scheduling Order does not provide sufficient time for the parties to pursue their 13 claims and defenses by the current case deadlines.

14 Accordingly, Amazon and the Cash Network Defendants jointly request that the Court
 15 amend the Scheduling Order as shown below:
